

Zoe Harris

Zoe Harris is the Manager of Health Service Planning for Southern NSW Local Health District. Working in Health Service Planning for over 14 years, Zoe has facilitated numerous Health Services Plans including the Clinical Service Plan for Bega Valley leading to a major $170M redevelopment on a greenfield site. In rural areas, the location, level, size and models of care of services are critical decisions for future generations. Zoe considers it a Health Planner's key responsibility to provide the platform to facilitate the development of clinical service models for implementation, along with ensuring staff and community members are engaged in the decision making process. To plan services effectively and lead discussions on options for the future, it is critical to provide in-depth analysis of data and communicate this effectively to all stakeholders. When not 'planning', Zoe enjoys exploring the world and indulging in her crafts of pottery and warm glass.
